

Shakespeare and All That Jazz

A collaboration between the Shakespeare Society and the First Friday Music Club

including

Delfeayo Marsalis- Glen Fisher Con Alma-

The Correia MS Jazz Band- CMS English students-

CMS Audio & Video Production Department- FFC Students- Point Loma Nazarene University Band All Stars- Claudia Russell & Jeff Dalrymple from Jazz 88.3 FM

Wednesday,
November 9, 2011

7:30pm

Neuroscience Institute

10640 John Jay Hopkins Dr.
San Diego, CA 92121

World renowned trombonist and Jazz educator Delfeayo Marsalis will be performing on Wednesday November 9, 2011 at the Neuroscience Institute in La Jolla, California.

His newly arranged version of Duke Ellington's "Such Sweet Thunder", a musical tribute to William Shakespeare, one of the most poetic writers of the English language, will be enhanced by poetic readings of Shakespeare in a clever dialogue between Delfeayo and Shakespeare himself (read by Correia students).

The First Friday Club and Correia Middle School are very excited to have this unique opportunity to team with the Shakespeare Society and bring Delfeayo Marsalis's in our community.

Delfeayo Marsalis, Glen Fisher and Kim Keeline will be on Jazz 88.3 FM on Sunday November 6, 2011 at 6pm on "Inside Art" hosted by Dave Drexler.

For ticket sales go to <http://www.sandiegoshakespearesociety.org/>

The event is sponsored by the First Friday Music Club with the help of CIMA (Correia Instrumental Music Association) and the San Diego Shakespeare Society. VIP seating is available for donations of $50 and above.

For more information contact ffc@gomangoinvasion.com

The First Friday Music Club is a 501(c)3.