Don Larsen was born August 7, 1929 in Michigan City, Indiana. He graduated from Point Loma High in 1947 and debuted in the Major League on April 18, 1953. Don played for a number of teams including the St. Louis Browns that later moved to Baltimore, the New York Yankees, Kansas City Athletics, Chicago Cubs and White Sox, Houston Astros and San Francisco Giants. He will always be remembered for that one perfect evening in mid October, dressed in New York Yankee pinstripes during game 5 of the World Series against the Brooklyn Dodgers, when he was as close to perfect as any pitcher can be. Larsen faced Sal Maglie of the Dodgers in an historic pitching duel. Larsen set down 27 Dodgers in a row to get the win for the Yankees, 2-0. It is the only perfect game to ever be thrown in a World Series.

Thank you for supporting this rich heritage of Point Loma Baseball.
