Investing in California's Future Part II: What it means for our Students, our Community and for San Diego's Regional Economy Town Hall Meeting

Tuesday, January 19, 2016

San Diego Central Library

Neil Morgan Auditorium

330 Park Boulevard, San Diego, CA 92101

6:30-8:00 p.m.

California's economy increasingly relies on highly educated workers—and the K-12 public education system can lay the foundation for successful preparation before students enter the workforce or pursue a postsecondary education. To meet future economic demand, the state needs to more robustly invest in the public education system. California currently ranks 46th in the nation in per-pupil funding. What will it take to move the state to a robust investment level to prepare students to continue to compete in the 21st century global economy, and solve the state's future challenges?

Join the San Diego Unified School District, the San Diego Unified Council of Parent Teacher Association (PTA) and the United Way of San Diego for a countywide discussion with parents, community and business leaders on why supporting public schools matters for society and the economy. Superintendent Cindy Marten will provide welcoming remarks to highlight key district initiatives that hold promise in closing the opportunity gap with additional investments in the classroom.

United Way of San Diego will moderate the panel discussion and Questions and Answers:

- Andrea Guerrero, Executive Director, Alliance San Diego
- Clare Crawford, President and Executive Director, Center for Policy Initiatives
- Ed Hidalgo, Senior Director of Staffing, Qualcomm
- Mark Cafferty, President and CEO, San Diego Regional Economic Development Corp.
- Gregg Robinson, President, San Diego County Board of Education
- Celeste Bobryk-Ozaki, President, San Diego Unified Council of PTAs
